Amazing Christmas puzzles from around the world for you to help to solve

Father Christmas has lost his notebook, which contains all the information about Christmas customs in other countries. This is a real disaster! So Helge the reindeer is sent off on a journey to find out about Christmas traditions all over the world. But Helge is a bit of a fibber...

So the readers' help is needed: is it true that in Iceland there are 13 Santas who bring the presents? Are special sand-cakes really eaten in Egypt? And is it a fact that in Mexico they carve nativity figurines from radishes?
