

BENJAMIN CORS

A broken lightbulb sits on a dark, textured wooden surface. The bulb is shattered, with sharp fragments visible. Inside the bulb, a red liquid is visible, and a pool of the same liquid has spilled out onto the wood below it. The background is dark and moody, with some light reflecting off the wood and the broken glass.

SPIEGEL
Bestseller-Autor

SCHERBEN KIND

THRILLER

dtv

GRUPPE 4 ERMITTELT