

The background of the book cover is a stylized, colorful illustration. It features a large white circle in the upper right, resembling a full moon. The landscape is composed of various green trees and bushes. On the left, there's a pink house with a yellow sun-like shape on its roof. On the right, a brown house with a white door and a small window is visible. In the bottom left, two people are riding bicycles. In the bottom right, two people are sitting on a red blanket on the grass. The overall style is modern and whimsical.
